

WORKSHOP:

Ethics of AI Use in the Public Sector

June 9th 2021, KTH & Zoom

- 09.00-09.15 Welcome!
- 09.20-09.50 Malin Rönnblom, Karlstad University: The political implications of ethics in the discussion of AI use in the public sector
- 09.50-10.20 Patrick Eckemo, senior advisor, Agency for Digital Government (DIGG)
- 10.30-11.00 KEYNOTE: David Leslie, The Alan Turing Institute
- 11.00-11.30 Barbro Fröding, KTH: Ethical and social impacts of disruptive technologies in the Public Sector
- Lunch break: 11.30-12.30
- 12.30-13.00 Emma Engström and Jennifer Viberg Johansson, IFFS: An overview of AI's adoption in the public sector in Europe so far and some of the ethical questions it raises
- 13.00-13.30 Rachael Garrett, KTH: Reflections on a Corporeal Ethics in Interaction Design Practice
- 13.45-14.15 Maria Nordström, KTH: On the legitimacy of AI for public use: why it is not guaranteed and why it matters
- 14.15-14.45 Markus Furendal, Stockholm University: The Global Governance of Artificial Intelligence: Some Normative Concerns
- 15.00-15.30 Irja Malmio, Swedish Defense University: Ethics as an Enabler and a Constraint - Conflicting Norms and Values through the case of Project Maven
- 15.30-16.00 Isaac Taylor, Stockholm University: Justice by Algorithm: The Ethics of Automated Criminal Sentencing