

Welcome to KTH!

I look forward to working together with you and your colleagues to make KTH an even better educational and research environment. I hope you will enjoy working with us in our inspiring and dynamic workplace.

It is in teamwork, trust in each other and in the insight that everyone wants to perform their best at work, that we together build a good and stimulating work environment.

KTH's mission is partly to train future engineers, architects and teachers, and partly to conduct research to find solutions to many of the challenges society faces. In addition, we collaborate with the surrounding society and both drive and participate in societal development through innovative research.

Please read more about what we offer and what you will be a part of as a new employee:
<https://intra.kth.se/en/anstallning/ny-pa-kth/ny-pa-kth-1.626077>

Anders Söderholm, President of KTH

Many greetings

Anders Söderholm, President of KTH