

Call for contributions!

Get ready for KTH's 6th Scholarship of Teaching and Learning conference:

KTH SoTL 2025 – Taking Learning Seriously

We welcome submissions for our biannual internal conference. This time the focus is on exploring how we teach and assess with a focus on learning.

Read more about The Scholarship of Teaching and Learning 2025 conference here

Ideas for contributions

How do we learn, and how do we teach? How can we ensure that student learning is deep and meaningful? What educational challenges, opportunities, and solutions have you found? Can your ideas and experiences help us improve teaching? We want to hear about your insights and ideas, your projects related to teaching and learning, and your innovative educational ideas, either already implemented or planned!

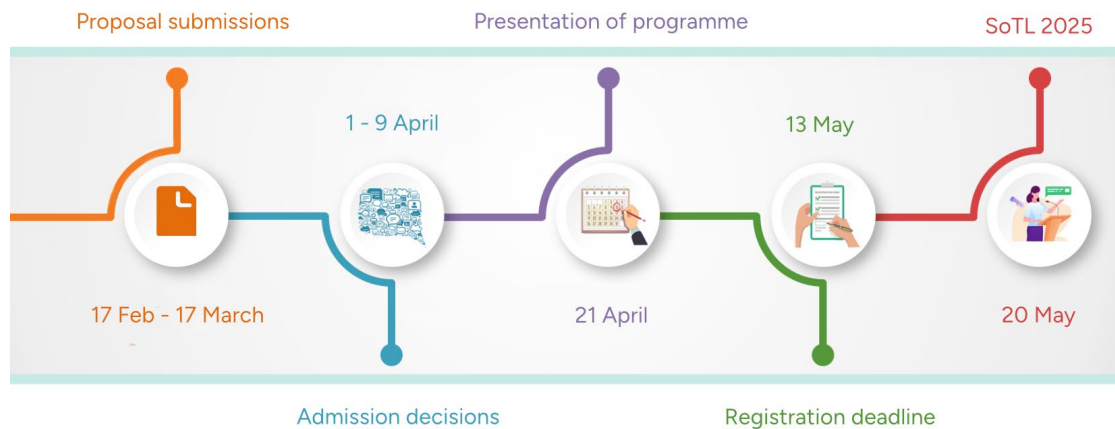

Here are some examples of what your contribution might focus on:

- Technology-enhanced learning.
- Student engagement strategies.
- Interdisciplinary teaching.
- Internationalisation and global perspectives.
- Inclusivity and accessibility in education.
- Disseminating SoTL: From classroom to publication

Submission period: 17 February - 17 March

Read more details about SoTL, find guidelines and instructions and register your contribution here

Important dates SoTL 2025

With your help, we hope to bring together teachers, researchers, students and colleagues from KTH for a day of learning, networking and exploring challenges and solutions together with KTH-Storträffen Meetup on 20 May.

The conference languages are both English and Swedish, so abstracts can be submitted in either of these languages.

For any questions, please email the conference team: kth-sotl@kth.se