

Welcome to the ITM PhD candidate conference 2018

April 18-19, 2018

Conference topic

Research skills from different perspectives

Date, time and location

The conference will be a lunch to lunch event at Skogshem och Wijk at Lidingö. You will be accommodated in double rooms. The conference is free of charge.

Participants

PhD candidates (doctoral/licentiate) from all doctoral programmes and Departments at ITM. We have space for around 60 participants. Please register immediately if you are interested. In case the conference gets full those who recently started their studies will have priority.

Last date to register for the ITM PhD conference is Tuesday, March 27.

Please, make your registration here >>

Transportation

Wednesday April 18 – bus departure from outside KTH Entré at 11.15 am, return around 2 pm Thursday April 19.

Assignments

All PhD candidates participating in the conference should prepare a poster presenting their own research work. If you have a recent poster from a conference you may use that. The posters should be presented at a poster session Wednesday afternoon/evening. The aim of the poster session is for you to present your research to your fellow students and to get the opportunity to recognize connections and similarities between your own research and your fellow student's research. Maybe you can find some common research interest with students doing research in other research areas and/or other departments?

Participants who want 2 course credits for the conference should write a 3-4 pages reflection on what they learned during the conference with special emphasis on potential connections to other PhD student's research projects. Please submit the reflection to the person responsibility for your doctoral programme. The credits can only be obtained once although you may participate in the conference more than once.

The agenda for the conference is attached.

Welcome!
